Book Club

February’s book is Factfulness: Ten Reasons We’re Wrong About the World—and Why Things are Better Than You Think by Hans Rosling.

Using the word “instinct” in chapter headings (e.g. “the gap instinct”, “the negativity instinct”, etc.), Rosling presents 10 reasons why we are wrong about the world. His solution is to proceed from fact, not inherent opinion, to reduce stress and thus improve our world. With COVID-19 restrictions remaining, the OSURA Book Club will again use the You Are There play format to me via email to discuss the book

Arranger: Lee Hill (hill.30@osu.edu – Book Club SIG)
